

Sensorial library

A lecture experience that is immersive for everyone

What a sensorial library is?

It's a special room where the words are brought to life. Lectures of novels, stories and poetries with scenographic sounds and noises to stimulate the senses and the imagination.

A trip through the words and sounds

Every lecture in the sensorial library it's a small immersive trip. The words are said with sounds, noises and atmospheric music thought to follow the narration and to stimulate the imagination. The rustle of the wind, the rainfall, dull steps and crackling of the fire: every audible element it's chosen to make the story more alive, emotional and involving. An experience that goes beyond the listening , able to touch the senses and the heart.
